

Good Questions for Stakeholder Interviews

What the project is about

The more you know about the project or product and what the organization hopes to achieve from it, the better you can ensure that the research is relevant.

- What is the product going to be?
- What is the history of the project?
- What is the reason we are doing this project/product?
- What are the goals of the project?
- What do we still need to clarify?
- Who are our biggest competitors?

The stakeholder's role and interests in relation to the project

If you understand a stakeholder's background and motivations it is easier for you to identify where you will meet opposition to or support for specific research and resulting design changes.

[Continued on next page]

INTERACTION DESIGN
FOUNDATION

INTERACTION-DESIGN.ORG

Creative Commons BY-SA license: You are free to edit and redistribute this template, even for commercial use, as long as you give credit to the Interaction Design Foundation. Also, if you remix, transform, or build upon this template, you must distribute it under the same CC BY-SA license.

[Continued from previous page]

- What is your role in this project?
- How long have you been involved in the project?
- What did you do before this project?
- What do you personally consider a success for this project?
- What worries do you have in relation to this project?
- How would you like to be involved in user research? (e.g. see a report, participate in interviews, workshop the results)
- Is there anyone else we need to talk to?

What has already been decided about the project

If you know the constraints of the project it is easier for you to decide on how ambitious you can be about research and resulting design changes.

- What has been decided about the project/product so far?
- What requirements have been decided for the product?
- What tech decisions have been made and how firm are they?
- When is the product going to be released?
- How large is the development team?

[Continued on next page]

INTERACTION DESIGN
FOUNDATION

INTERACTION-DESIGN.ORG

Creative Commons BY-SA license: You are free to edit and redistribute this template, even for commercial use, as long as you give credit to the Interaction Design Foundation. Also, if you remix, transform, or build upon this template, you must distribute it under the same CC BY-SA license.

[Continued from previous page]

Who are the users

By clarifying what people already know about users and who they want the customers to be you can ensure that your user research is focused.

- Who are the customers/users?
- What user research have we already done that might be relevant for this project?
- Who do we want the customers/ users to be in 5 or 10 years?
- Do we know the primary use context for the product?

INTERACTION DESIGN
FOUNDATION

INTERACTION-DESIGN.ORG

Creative Commons BY-SA license: You are free to edit and redistribute this template, even for commercial use, as long as you give credit to the Interaction Design Foundation. Also, if you remix, transform, or build upon this template, you must distribute it under the same CC BY-SA license.

About the Interaction Design Foundation

INTERACTION DESIGN
FOUNDATION

Founded in 2002, the Interaction Design Foundation (IDF) is on a mission to provide accessible and affordable design education to people across the world. We provide open-source educational materials as well as online, self-paced UX Design courses. Through taking our courses, you'll benefit from course materials developed by leading practitioners and academics from top-tier universities like Stanford University and MIT. Learn more about the IDF

How learning at the IDF works

Attend lessons at your own pace

Learn from UX experts and professors, from anywhere and at any time

Network online and offline

Discuss with your peers in your courses, and meet with them in your city

Advance your UX career

Get an industry-trusted Course Certificate to add to your résumé

See all our courses >

INTERACTION DESIGN
FOUNDATION

INTERACTION-DESIGN.ORG

Creative Commons BY-SA license: You are free to edit and redistribute this template, even for commercial use, as long as you give credit to the Interaction Design Foundation. Also, if you remix, transform, or build upon this template, you must distribute it under the same CC BY-SA license.